Jamil G. Daoud serves as a trusted advisor to individuals and families in all aspects of wealth management and preservation. A partner with the firm's Estate Planning Practice, he thoughtfully guides clients through the complex planning environment with an individualized and comprehensive approach that aligns with the unique values and objectives of his clients. He is board-certified by the Florida Bar in wills, trusts, and estates.

Jamil handles a full range of services including tax, estate, and wealth transfer planning, closely held business planning, and estate and trust administration. He regularly advises individuals and families regarding appropriate tax and estate planning to carry out their specific objectives and provides counsel to corporate and individual fiduciaries regarding all facets of trust and estate administration, including audits with the Internal Revenue Service.

Jamil has extensive experience with the specialized needs of closely held business owners and corporate executives, and has assisted many clients in successfully transferring family businesses from one generation to the next.
