Mark Diliberti is a partner and co-chair of the firm's Trademark, Copyright & Advertising Counseling Practice. He focuses on counseling clients on a full spectrum of brand management services including trademarks, copyrights, licensing, enforcement, advertising, and related litigation.

Clients described Mark as "an experienced and wise strategic counsellor with strong business acumen, well-developed negotiation skills, and a superior knowledge of non-traditional trademark protection." His exceptional client service and contribution to business goals has resulted in his recognition as a globally acknowledged practitioner in World Trademark Review's "WTR 1000 – The World's Leading Trademark Professionals."

Mark has a demonstrated history of assisting clients in intensely competitive markets such as food and beverage, consumer product, professional sports, life science, and innovative technology, to name a few.

Mark represents clients in the licensing of their trademark assets and related agreements such as sponsorship deals, performance contracts, and endorsement agreements. He offers clients innovative protection for their market recognition and differentiation through his substantial experience with protecting unique and distinctive features of products and packaging, such as color and shape through trade dress and copyright protection.

Mark offers services beyond the development of trademarks a valuable corporate asset. He assists clients with intellectual property aspects of business transactions such as mergers and acquisitions, financing, and joint ventures.

Outside of work, Mark channels his passions towards an activity that relies on his legal specialty – the music industry. Mark is a musician and songwriter who has played in multiple bands and recorded and released albums. He has played in the Riverwest Aces and The Pop Rocks. He currently plays guitar, sings, and writes songs in the melodic punk rock band Floor Model.
